NEW YORK.

The Religious Revival in Brooklyn.

A Prayer by Henry Ward Beecher.

THE LOADER PERJURY CASE.

NEW YORK, November 12, 1875.

The Loader Perjury Case.

Judge Moore, of Brooklyn, has decided to grant an order for a commission to take the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Richards in the Loader perjury case. The counsel for Loader stated that he should probably apply for orders to take testimony in other States. He thought it likely that the trial of Loader would call for the evidence of nearly all the parties not previously examined, who are said to possess information bearing upon the issue between Mr. Beecher and Mr. Tilton.

The Religious Revival.

This morning the ministers held a meeting in the Lay College adjoining the Brooklyn Tabernacle, and spent an hour in prayer for God's blessing and aid. There were over one hundred clergymen, from various churches. They then entered the Tabernacle, and Mr. Moody had the doors closed, that they might have a few moments for silent prayer undisturbed. After prayer the doors were opened, and the building was filled to its utmost capacity. The gates were again closed, and Mr. Moody prayed for a blessing and that this day of fasting be a day of searching the heart for sin. "Lord, I hear of showers of blessing," was then sung, and Mr. Moody read a portion of the ninth chapter of Samuel. He said that when God came very near them they had very little to say, and he hoped God would come so near them this morning that they would, indeed, have very little to say. The Scripture showed that the prophet Jeremiah held on until he heard from Heaven. So we should hold on. The prophet set his faith to seeking the Lord, and he had done the same thing this morning.

A silent prayer was again offered. "I need thee every hour" was sung. A gentleman in the gallery, with a very loud voice, prayed, making the Tabernacle echo, and when he closed Mr. Moody, in a sorrowful tone, said: "Now let us have a few moments in silent prayer, and thus get back again to ourselves. That is what we want." Three minutes were thus passed, when Mr. Sankey offered a prayer.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, leaning against the platform, offered this prayer: "Grant unto us, our Heavenly Father, to draw near to Thee. Come to us. We cannot go to Thee. Yet not in Thy brightness, for we could not live. We cannot bear to see ourselves in the light of Thy countenance. We confess our unworthiness, and we confess, when we look from our souls, our long periods of time, Thou art as a troubled sea, full of roughness and of waves. If it be there is any light, it is because the Son of righteousness rests over the horizon and shines. Light is of Thee and trouble is of us. We confess to Thee how little we have loved one another, how angry we have been with others, how little we have loved goodness. We confess to Thee our pride, and how unwilling we have been to be as little children to confess our sins one to another, and bow down to one another, and confess to have fallen into judgment one over another. We confess Thee in meekness. We confess want of meekness. We have gone about worldly, as other men, pretending to preach Christ; but, oh, what Christ? If men have seen an angry Christ, we have so represented. If they have seen an humbled Christ, Christ without a burden, Christ without a cross, without tears, without blood, He was our creation, and we have gone about depending upon our wisdom and excellence of speech, preaching outward Christ, and have borne not all His spirit within us, but the spirit of the world. Oh, Lord Jesus, how have we slandered Thee! Our souls are heavy that there is so little of Thee with us, that we are so in fact and in preaching, because we have entered so little into the temple of Thy heart, and now we pray that Thou wilt draw near to us, for we cannot think of Thee in judgment robes. Oh, bring my nature home to us, to each one of us. We need Thee deeply, need Thee in our outward ministrations, need Thee in the household, need Thee in the transactions of our daily duties, need Thee for waiting, need Thee for coming and going forward, need Thee in the watches of the night, in the house of prayer, in joy and in sorrow. Where can we be that we can pray without Thee? Whom have we in salvation but Thee? There is no one upon the earth to be desired by Thy side, Thou chief among ten thousand, and altogether lovely."

This was Mr. Beecher's first active participation in the revival service, and he spoke with his accustomed eloquence.

Rev. Dr. Fulton, pastor of the Hanson Place Baptist Church, recently threatened with disruption owing to dissensions, occupied a front seat, and was continually weeping from the time he entered the Tabernacle. He then prayed with tears still streaming down his cheeks that God would bless him and give him more of His grace, that they should bow down as sinners.

At the close of the prayer the congregation was dismissed, the ladies remaining for the women's meeting.

A physician sent circulars to most of the clergymen, saying if allowed to speak, he will convince them that there is no heaven and no future state. The ministers have prayed for the conversion of this man.

This was the close of the fast day and the last day of the Rink meetings this week. To-night there was the greatest crowd yet seen at and around the building since the beginning of the revival. The doors were shut at 6:30 P. M., and the street in front to the sidewalk was occupied by a dense mass of outsiders who were too late. The Methodist church was jammed, and the galleries, aisles and ante-rooms. Inside the Rink the usual appearance of things was to be observed. Interspersed in the audience were quite a number of country people, who were the most attentive and appreciative class to the preaching and singing.

Mr. Moody gave out the hymn "We praise Thee, oh God, for the Son of Thy Love," which was sung by the congregation standing, and prayer was offered by Rev. R. C. Freadnell. The hymn "Jesus of Nazareth passeth by" was then sung by request, and Mr. Sankey followed with prayer. He said: "Let us pray our Heavenly Father to help the singing of His hymns to-night. We ask it in the name of Jesus. May those who hear these solemn truths believe them. May the truth of Thy gospel find lodgment in all hearts here to-night. Do Thou arrest the footsteps of those who are going on helplessly disregarding Thy call and caring not for this man Christ Jesus. Let them hear Thy voice to-night. May they say, ere it is too late, 'I will turn to the Lord now, for Jesus' sake.' Amen."

Missing.

George Griswold, a well known merchant, of the firm of L. N. & G. Griswold, is missing since Saturday evening, near his own residence. He was known to have $1,000 in money and from $3,000 to $4,000 in jewelry about him, and it is feared he was murdered or abducted.

Business Failures.

Two failures in the butter and cheese trade are announced, Armstrong & Morrison, of Chamber street, and F. S. Doremus & Co., of Greenwich street.

A REVENUE CASE.

Seized Property Ordered to be Restored.

LOUISVILLE, November 12.—In the case of the United States against two engines, Desterville No. 3, Covington, J. H. Wessells & Co., and other claimants, Judge Ballard yesterday rendered a decision in favor of the claimants. The United States revenue officers had seized upon property of the claimants amounting to about two hundred thousand dollars, on the grounds that as rectifiers they did not pay the special tax required by law, that they changed the name of the firm without notifying the Government, and they did not keep their books as required by law. The case was on trial during the October term of this Court for about a week. Judge Ballard, on giving his decision, ordered the restitution of the property seized to the claimants. The District Attorney will probably move for a new trial.

STRIKE ENDED.

The Coal Miners of the Hocking Valley to Resume Work To-day.

COLUMBUS, O., November 12.—The strike of the coal miners in the Hocking Valley is over, and the miners return to work to-morrow morning at their own terms, sixty cents per ton. The break occurred at Shawnee, and as soon as it was discovered that the Shawnee operators were shipping coal to this point the operators in the Hocking Valley became nervous over their prospective loss of trade, and so yielded to the demands of their men, and authorize them to go work to-morrow at an advance of ten cents per ton.

NEW YORK, November 12.—Arrived—the steamship Suevia, from Hamburg.

MOVILLE, November 12.—The steamship Nova Scotian, from Baltimore, has arrived.

ANOTHER DISASTER.

The Bark Toronto Wrecked.

A Terrible Tale of Suffering and Death by the Only Survivor.

NEW YORK, November 12.—The brig Centaur arrived from Greytown yesterday. On the 2d of October she picked up a Spanish negro, in a boat belonging to the bark Toronto, of Glasgow, wrecked near Navassa, but when and under what circumstances could not be learned from the negro. The crew abandoned the bark in the same boat, and all perished except the negro. He was insensible when found.

A reporter had a talk with the rescued seaman, from which it appears that soon after leaving Navassa a furious storm arose, and at eleven o'clock at night the foremast broke off close to the deck. They cut away the mast, and an hour after the mainmast gave away, leaving only the mizzenmast. The tempest was very violent, yet the captain was below sleeping and the first mate was lying on the floor with a nail in his foot. Land was then discovered and the captain was called, under whose orders all hands took to the long boat. It was, however, immediately almost filled with water and seven of the men were washed into the sea. Some of them clung to the oars, but were soon washed away, and the violence of the waves speedily carried the boat away from them and the vessel. There were now seven men in the boat, with no provisions. For days they drifted without food, but securing a little water from occasional rains. From Maxima's account, it seems clear that the men lost their reason. He describes them as walking about looking at the sea and sky. Some leaped into the sea, some lay on their backs with their parched mouths open and so died. Others lay against the boat's side, drooping until they died, speaking not one word to their companions. One by one they all went, throwing themselves or being thrown into the sea. At length he alone was left. He eat seaweed to sustain life. He caught a sea bird occasionally, and sometimes a fish. When found he was drifting along helplessly and was reclining against the side, his head drooping over his bosom. He could not speak or move. The boat of the Toronto, on board the Centaur, shows where it has been scraped by the men for the purpose of eating the dirt that clung to the sides.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, November 12, 1875.

Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office.

Commissioner Burdett, of the Land Office, will, in his forthcoming report, strongly recommend that all timber lands owned by the Government be appraised and thrown open to purchase at not less than their appraised value. He is of the opinion that unless they are thus placed under private guardianship, the pine forests of the country will soon be wastefully exhausted by lumber companies and speculators, who are now stripping the land of its timber under cover of "dummy" pre-emption entries, or without any pretence of compliance with law, while the Government derives no revenue from its property and the country sustains almost irreparable damage from the sweeping denudation of large areas of its water sheds. He will also condemn the practice of extending the system of sub-division surveys over immense bodies of worthless land west of the one hundredth meridian, and suggests that only such tracts be minutely surveyed as have any attractions for settlers. He will also recommend that provision be made for connecting Land Office surveys with important points established by the geological surveys of the territories, and that monuments at section corners, etc., be constructed in a much more lasting manner. The recommendation of his predecessor that the pre-emption laws should be abolished and the homestead system made the only method of acquiring a title to the agricultural lands is repeated by Commissioner Burdet, and earnestly urged upon the attention of Congress.

Vice President Wilson.

The Vice President has rested quietly during the day. He suffers no pain, and is cheerful. Dr. Baxter says he is rapidly convalescing.

The Vice President to-night is able to take a more nourishing diet. At eight o'clock he was sleeping quietly, his pulse regular, extremities warm, and his condition generally comfortable.

KENTUCKY KU-KLUX.

The Owen County Outrage—Judge Emmons' Charge to the Jury.

LOUISVILLE, November 12.—Hon. H. H. Emmons, Circuit Judge of the United States Court, to-day delivered the charge to the jury in the cases of Bill Smoot, George Meffert, George Hall and John Onan, on trial to answer indictments for conspiracy against the Government in resisting processes in the hands of acting Sheriff Wills Russell, of Owen county. The charge is very long and embraces a review of all the outrages committed in Owen county in the last few years by Ku-Klux. Judge Emmons severely criticizes and condemns the doings of desperadoes, and seems to leave no avenue through which a verdict other than guilty can be rendered. He refers in severe terms to the lawlessness that formerly existed in the same sections criticizing the conduct of the county attorneys and magistrates, and recommending that measures be taken and to be always ready to suppress lawlessness and conspiracy, which he considers the most disgraceful of all crimes against the Government. In conclusion he charges that if the jury shall find that Smoot, Onan, Hall and Meffert had a common purpose in their act they were guilty of conspiracy, and should be found guilty. If they had no common purpose in their deeds, they should be acquitted. The trial has been in progress over three weeks, the present parties being the worst and last of the desperadoes who disgraced their county, committing numerous Ku-Klux acts of robbery and murder.

THE GULF DISASTER.

No Traces of the Passengers or Crew of the Steamer City of Waco Discovered.

GALVESTON, November 12.—Captain Sawyer, agent of the Mallory Line, returned late last night. He states that they sailed forty miles southward and to the westward, taking in the entire limits of the main track of the gulf, which was thoroughly searched. They found a dinkey boat, belonging to the lost vessel, bottom up. It had not been scorched. A set of steps were also found. Captain Sawyer states that large quantities of freight from off the deck of the Waco were found floating, among which were cases of Astral Oil, which was stored on her upper deck, and thinks this freight must have been thrown overboard by the crew. Among other articles picked up was a jacket life preserver, from which the string had been torn. No clue was found as to the fate of any of the people. Captain Sawyer started outside again this forenoon to continue the search.

The steamship State of Texas, which has been outside to-day searching for the Waco people, has returned and brings no further news. There seems to be little hope now of finding any of her passengers or crew.

BUSINESS FAILURES.

New England Merchants and Manufacturers Going Under.

BOSTON, November 12.—The Commercial Bulletin's list of failures and suspensions for the week gives nineteen in Boston and other places in New England. At a meeting of creditors of Cutter, Tower & Co., Boston, stationers, the liabilities were stated at $180,000 and the nominal assets at $138,000. It is thought the firm will pay thirty-five cents. P. C. Hall & Co., boots and shoes, Boston, offer their creditors forty cents on the dollar, and a settlement will probably be made. The New England Carpet Company and Gustavus, Abbott & Co., carpet dealers, Boston, are reported failed. Their liabilities are said to be $100,000 each. W. K. Lancey, lumber merchant, of Pittsfield, Maine, has suspended. His liabilities are between $50,000 and $100,000. B. C. Brown, a merchant of Cheshire, Mass., has failed. Liabilities $50,000.

The Public Health Association.

BALTIMORE, November 12.—The American Public Health Association met this morning and admitted new members. The executive committee was instructed to memorialize Congress in favor of such legislation as will bring about proper co-operation between the General Government and the several State Governments for a uniform and efficient system of the registry of births, deaths and marriages. The special committee to carry into effect a plan for a systematic sanitary survey of the United States includes Dr. J. H. Rauch, of Illinois, and Dr. H. B. Baker, of Michigan. A number of papers were then read. Complimentary resolutions were passed, and the Association adjourned sine die.

Knavery on the Turf.

BOSTON, November 12.—At Beacon Park to-day a horse entered in the 2:50 race, under the name of Westbrook, won the first two heats with such apparent ease that it led to an investigation. The ankles were found painted and his appearance otherwise changed. He was identified as a horse which trotted in the West as Lothair and as Small Hopes. He was ruled off the track and the race declared off.

THE PACIFIC DISASTER.

A Collision with the Ship Orpheus the Cause.

The Latter Vessel Also Sunk.

The Crew Saved—Statement by the Captain.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—A dispatch this afternoon from Port Townsend reports the return of the revenue steamer Wolcott from a cruise after the survivors of the Pacific. After finding O'Hanlon, Quartermaster, previously noted, the cutter steamed for Neahboy, near Waddan Island, and picked up the body of the under steward of the Pacific. On reaching Neahboy, Lieut. Harwood, in command of the Wolcott, sent an Indian canoe, which searched the coast for twenty miles southward to Cape Flattery, returning after two days unsuccessful. On Wednesday the Wolcott sailed for Barclay Sound; Vancouver's Island, thirty-five miles from Cape Flattery, and communicated with the Indians along the Vancouver shore, but nothing of importance was ascertained. Steaming up Barclay Sound, the first Indian village was hailed. A canoe came off containing a white man, who came aboard and introduced himself as the first mate of the ship Orpheus. He stated that he had been run into on the Thursday night previous by a steamer, and was wrecked on the following Saturday morning on an island near by (Copper Island). The Captain and crew had got ashore safely. They were encamped further up.

Proceeding in the direction indicated, another canoe approached, in which was Captain Sawyer, of the Orpheus. He gave the following account of the disaster: On Thursday evening he was approaching the Cape by his reckoning about twenty miles off, with a fresh southeast breeze and steering about northwest. The man at the wheel first saw the steamer's headlight off the port bow. Immediately after she was straight ahead. He could see neither of her side lights. He could not make out in which direction she was coming. He put her helm to the starboard. The light came nearer. He continued to starboard his helm until his vessel had turned around, the sails flapping. The steamer by this time had got very near him and blew the whistle. In less than half a minute after her bow struck his ship, glancing the bow just abaft the forechains, crushing in the rail, and breaking the planking down to near the copper. She surged longside of her, striking and grating along the starboard side, carrying away all the starboard braces and rigging on that side, also the foretop mast.

Captain Sawyer states that he hailed the steamer as she surged past. He called to them to lay by him and send a boat, as he then supposed his ship to be in a sinking condition; but no one answered the hail. Neither did he see anyone on deck. She drifted or steamed away, he was not certain which. She afterwards saw a dash of light, which he took for a signal. He thought they had heard his hail and would lay by him. He saw her no more. His ship at that time demanded all his attention. He lay the remainder of that night and nearly all the next day (Friday) repairing the rigging. That forenoon he got under way again, and made sail for land. Soon after dark he made a light which he took for Cape Flattery, not knowing there was a light on the coast further north. He allowed five miles clearance for Duncan Rock, and considered himself safe for entering the Strait of Fuca, when about five o'clock on Saturday morning his ship scraped over a reef and immediately after struck her bow on a rock and filled. The light he mistook for Flattery was Cape Beal entrance.

Captain Sawyer got all the valuables, &c., he could out of her, and encamped on shore with his wife and crew in tents made of sails. He had hired a canoe from the Indians and started his mate to Victoria for help, but the weather was so bad that the Indians would not venture out on a voyage. So they were found when the Wolcott arrived. Lieut. Harwood took all of them aboard his vessel, with the most valuable portion of the goods saved, leaving the first mate of the Orpheus in charge of the wreck until the owners could be consulted.

Sudden Death—Election—Revival—The Weather—Times—New Buildings.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

November 8, 1875.

The Election.

The election passed off quietly. The Republicans are well satisfied; the Democrats not so well. Here, as well as elsewhere, we have some who vote ignorantly, and others who, it would seem, from their political associations, care more for party than for right and good government.

Religious Revival.

The Methodist Church at Cookport, Indiana county, Pa., S. F. Crowther pastor, has just closed a four weeks' series of meetings, which resulted in twenty-nine accessions. The church has been considerably strengthened and the Master's cause advanced in the community.

The Weather.

We have had very rough, cold weather for over a week, the ground being covered with snow and ice nearly all the time. Much of the corn is yet in the fields, and quite a per centage of it is soft. The fall crops were more than the average for this region. Fruit was a failure.

Money is scarce and business rather dull. About the usual number of new buildings have been erected during the summer.

Respectfully, C.

Dr. Hopkins on the Sabbath.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

I perceive you notice the unchristian attack made upon Dr. Hopkins in regard to his essay upon the Jewish Sabbath. Of course they (the writers) do not exhibit that liberty recorded in the 3d chapter of 2d Corinthians, 17th verse, but are under the old Judaistic vail, in the 14th and 15th verses. And this is the spirit of Judaism, under a grace dispensation, which is more or less prevalent among evangelical churches. Instead of holding a Christian conference with a brother to ascertain his views, if unsound, count him not as an enemy, but admonish as a brother; they appeal to the church and world, from the flesh, to create a prejudice against this brother. We would refer one to the 14th chapter of Romans, from the 1st to the 9th verses, where the essence of this whole subject lies. But the Judaistical spirit assumes a Gospel, and is to be his brother's keeper in the arbitrary or legal sense. For a Gospel minister to proclaim that he is responsible for souls, in the legal spirit, or that Christians have the blood of souls in their, spirits, is unauthorized by the Gospel of grace. Dr. Hopkins does not present in his essay that a Christian done many things on the Lord's day, or was authorized to do them, from a licentious liberty, or to use this liberty as an occasion to the flesh, or as a cloak of maliciousness. It is the heart God looks at, not externals; the motive, even if the action or external appears wrong. A man's external action is not always an index of the motive of the heart. There is a counterfeit and a true Gospel as regards the Jewish Sabbath and Lord's day we will not enter into now, as there will be articles upon this subject. We go farther than Dr. H. by believing the Sabbath was a rest for the body, not only for the Jews, but for Gentiles or Christians of all ages, agreeable to a love of nature and the wisdom of God.

The Roman body retains within her folds the Pagan, Jewish and Christian rites and principles—all things to all men in the letter of the carnal spirit. The Protestant broke from the despotic ecclesiastical chains of Rome, and unsealed the word of God, but brought out with them her spirit, which is in extant among us. They began to fight God's battles with Satan's weapons, and the Evangelical church are now more or less saturated with this Judaistic spirit that in an arbitrary sense you are your brother's keeper, as has been developed by Dr. Hopkins' essay in this community. The word of God is the only infallible rule. We are not under laws, but under grace. **

PITTSBURGH, November, 1875.

Affairs at Port Homer.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

PORT HOMER, O., November 8, 1875.

Business prospects are still dull generally. Business at Irondale will soon move on again. The Irondale Furnace will be run in connection with the Ohio City Iron and Nail Company, Martin's Ferry.

The brick trade is still dull; some concerns have closed for the winter.

The epizootic prevails, in a mild form, in this region, and horse-flesh will go into winter quarters in bad condition.

The hog market rules high, 7 to 8 cents being asked for hogs on foot.

The corn crop is extra fine and will be low. Wheat is looking fine for this time of year and prospects bid fair for a good crop for the coming year, but what good will this do the poor, who have no money or market for their labor? God help the poor in the coming dull winter. H.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 114¾.

KERR, the candidate against RANDALL for the Speakership of the House at Washington, did not receive back pay, but turned it into the Treasury. He evidently has a better record than SAMUEL. The latter was a back-payster, spoke in favor of the Resumption act, voted for it, set up his Convention against it, got beat, and is now in a fair way of being laid on the shelf as candidate for Speaker. Virtue tells, in the long run.

GEORGE SHIRAS, ESQ., is being quite prominently spoken of as the probable appointee to succeed Hon. SAMUEL E. DIMMICK as Attorney General of the State. Those who know Mr. SHIRAS will readily appreciate the excellent character of this appointment, should it be made. He is possessed of fine legal ability, and is a gentleman of excellent qualities in every respect. His high standing at our Pittsburgh bar entitles him to the recognition proposed. We congratulate him.

WE have a few flunkeys in journalism, who pretend to think that there is nothing in the Public School issues. We have the pleasure of informing them that when the Post devotes more than a column of its editorial space to a labored article, intended to prove that the school funds will never be sought after by the Catholics, there is something in it. The demand for specific proof of what we stated,—say in the form of resolutions adopted by some Convention of priests, is rather good. When did Catholic priests ever meet in Conventions and resolve on the school or any other question? They are subject to orders, not originators of policies. We have no disposition to press this question, just at the present, but do not push nonsense at us, in reply to what we do say.

OF the terrible effect of the Texas cyclone of a few days since, it is said that no fewer than five vessels are now reported as lost during the great hurricane. They put to sea shortly before or during the storm, and were overwhelmed in the open sea by the full fury of the winds and waves. In a region so frequently visited by cyclones as the West Indies there is not a sufficiently extended system of weather signals in use. Indeed, the advance of the great Texas cyclone was not known in this country until it had made fatal progress in its work of destruction among the small trading vessels that are employed for the transportation of fruits and light goods between the United States Atlantic ports and the numerous islands in the Carribbean Sea. It is to be hoped that our storm signal system will be speedily extended to this region.

CHAIRMAN HOYT, of the Republican State Executive Committee, has issued a congratulatory address, to the Republicans of Pennsylvania, on the success of the late election. It is full of very commendable enthusiasm over the result, and refers, in the following stirring language, to the contest next year: "Rejoicing as you do, remember that your victory is the fruit of organization, laborious and minute, and that without organization, your power is gone and your energies are useless. Stand by your guns, maintain your ranks, and hold yourselves in readiness for the final charge along the entire line, which shall result in the crowning triumph of your Centennial year, and which shall start you in the second century of National existence, under the auspicious rule of the great historical Republican party." We congratulate Mr. HOYT on the able and efficient manner in which he conducted the canvass.

THE New York Herald certainly reads the signs of the times quite carefully; and it declares that President GRANT has the "power to force his nomination" for another Presidential term. This is equivalent to a declaration that the current has set toward his nomination, and the Herald fears it. A scrub race is predicted, by all sorts of candidates, if he is nominated. It finally advises him to give his support to some good man,—which is the pith of the entire business. We are happy to inform our vacillating cotemporary that there is a very prevalent opinion that President GRANT can be elected if renominated. We do not for a moment believe he seeks the candidacy, but were he spontaneously nominated, he could be easily elected. There is not a man in all the country more dreaded by the Democracy than is President GRANT. His nomination will be the death knell to their hopes for another term of four years.

THE approaching session of Congress will be, in many particulars, very interesting. The Democracy are in power in the House, and will attempt to so shape their policy as to make capital for the Presidential canvass. What their plans or prospects are, no one assumes to know, and it is entirely probable they are at sea, even as to the repeal of the Resumption Act. The fight over the Speakership will be exceedingly bitter, and there is much speculation, even yet, as to who is the coming man. Many rumors are current as to the contents of Department reports, and particularly as to the President's message. His views on finances and home questions are sufficiently understood to put aside all speculation as to these. It is imagined, however, that he will be strong on the Cuban question, and that he will recommend our army and navy to be put in condition for war. This is all speculation, of course. The President, while possessed of a strong feeling of interest for Cuba, is not likely to plunge the nation into war, on a mere question of sympathy. As to the army and navy, there is not the slightest danger of any proposition being made that will entail unnecessary expense on the country.

THE close of the Exposition is at hand, and it is now quite possible to estimate the results, in a number of particulars, at the least. We do not propose to go into details that may be hereafter mentioned, but at the present it may be said that it has been a very complete success. The receipts will probably be less than at Cincinnati, but greater than those of any first Exposition ever held in this country. The expense of buildings and fixtures is much larger than was anticipated at the outset—but good, permanent buildings have been erected, and no material changes will be required, except for the enlargement of Power Hall. The awards of premiums were not, of course, satisfactory to all—they never are. Yet, the rule adopted in selecting jurors was as nearly impartial as it could be. The Executive Committee selected one for each class, and the exhibitors one—the two constituting a jury, except in cases of disagreement, when the two jurors selected a third—the majority vote then deciding the case. In all the many appeals there were few instances in which the jurors were found open to the slightest criticisms—the wishes of exhibitors, rather than their judgments, controlling their dissent. In the well-sustained interest the Exposition has been without a rival, and in its influence on the prosperity of the city, it has done a wonderful work. Of course, a thousand criticisms will be offered by those who know practically nothing of the inner workings of the affair—but, take it all in all, its success has been such as to compensate for more errors than have been made.

OUR gushing young friend, who furnishes such brilliant articles on grammatical analysis, must be soothed. We really cannot endure his trenchant wit. We would manage him by admiringly quoting his eulogy on the wisdom of the Catholic, but he would suspect us of ridicule. As we cannot so far forget ourselves as to acknowledge that wisdom presides over the editorial columns of the Dispatch, we are unable to soothe him in this way. The best we can do, therefore, is to quote some of his most eloquent passages, as found in yesterday's issue. Thus of the Empress of Brazil: "To manifest her devotion to their cause and that of the Church, with her own hand she sprinkles and sweeps out with an ordinary corn broom all the churches of the neighborhood in which she resides." Who swept them in, after this sympathetic creature has swept them out. And is it not something of an undertaking to sprinkle an entire church, floor, walls and roof? "Councils have become so unwieldy that the public business no longer obtains proper attention. Yet, when the necessity for a reduction is felt, the Committee discovers that before anything can be done toward that end, legislation must be had from Harrisburg." Our respected friend, "public business" must be more energetic hereafter in obtaining his rights. "It is often a matter of wonder to many how it is in these days of culture, enlightenment, labors of revivalists and numerous moral and religious appliances, there is so much crime, corruption and unblushing roguery." Respectfully referred to LINDLEY MURRAY. "The free traders of this country are making light of the fact that iron and cotton fabrics are being imported from the United States to England." When we of this country import from this country to England, it ought to be "made light" of. We have supposed that we exported, and that the people of England imported from this country. We close with the toploftical expression, "no interrogations should be propounded." Of course not. Gush away, young man.

COUNTING THE VOTES.

Official election returns are interesting reading,—particularly to defeated candidates and defeated parties. What a deal of the mystical and sorrowful is wrapped up in the long lines of figures that tell the official story. We knew a man once, who was beaten so badly that his friends thought he had not been running, who could learnedly demonstrate from the figures, that if this and that had occurred he would certainly have been elected. The possibilities of comfort and happiness, even to the defeated, contained in those figures, is something amazing. If Jonesboro' did not do just as well as it should have done, Snipetown did much better than was expected; and the balance being struck, the happiness afforded by Snipetown is found to be much greater than the disappointment occasioned by Jonesboro'. It requires pretty sanguine philosophy to make this work all right, but who so philosophical or so sanguine as a politician? What elaborate and beautiful reasons can be given for the defeat,—after it has occurred. But the skill that demonstrates that it could not be otherwise, will in the same breath show that it can never be so again.

Last year the Democracy looked at the official figures from an unaccustomed standpoint. They were successful,—and as they studied the long lines of official figures that made sure this desirable result, they were dazed. What visions of future triumph danced before their eyes! One modest gentleman who reached the Legislature, suddenly expanded into a statesman, and talked of his being the only person to be thought of for Congress next time. The party at large reasoned that if it could, with no better material, capture the Legislature, it could easily gain everything the following year. It was this illusion, born of the official figures, that led to such a scramble among the Democracy for the honors at Erie. Each of the aspirants had read the figures, and his head was turned. "What has been, can be again," and so they rushed and fought for impossible honors. One of the most amusingly absurd, though serious speeches that we heard during the canvass was that based on official figures. The orator had in his hand that grand receptacle of official returns, the Tribune Almanac. From it he read that GRANT'S majority in 1872, was 137,000; the Republican majority, in 1873, was about 25,000; in 1874 the Democracy had over 4,000 majority,—"therefore," argued our good friend, "the Republican party is under in Pennsylvania for all time to come." With what interest that gentleman must peruse these figures now! Thus wild dreams and strange fancies, sober plans and foolish theorizings are based on the same unalterable data, the figures that tell the results of votes taken.

There is, however, this serious side to the subject: A cool, courageous look at the figures of last year, learned the Republican party that in order to succeed it must give attention to the character of its candidates and to organization and discipline. Reforms were accomplished, in these respects, particularly in this county, without noise or parade. The organization of the party was taken fairly in hand, and the results reached were very considerable for the effort put forth. We had neither a noisy nor a particularly energetic campaign,—but organization and discipline were much improved. We need still to regard the figures soberly and steadily, and to look into next year with no quivering, uncertain glance. The Presidential year will have its advantages, but it will require clear heads and steady work to carry successfully through, the canvass that will then be upon us. While we have reason to be elated over the victory we have won, we should not be influenced in any other way than to be all the more energetic for future and greater triumphs. We certainly will be wise enough not to imitate the Democracy, and think that one success carries all others along with it. The figures simply record a victory won; but do not promise another in the future. They may indicate the drift of popular opinion, and so encourage and strengthen, in a contest yet to take place, but they are not assurances, so rigid and certain, that they can confidently be depended upon. Next year must, necessarily, be one of severe and exhausting labor, and no one should be so deluded with past successes as to expect anything else.

POLITICAL NOTES.

THE Prohibition vote for Secretary of State, in New York, is estimated at 17,500.

OF the seventy-two counties in Kansas, the Republicans carried all but three at the last election.

IOWA has been Republican for a good many years. She has no debt, and lots of money in the Treasury.

Two tunes are yet left to the Democrats, which they can sing whenever they feel low-spirited or despondent. They are, "Old Virginia Never Tire," and "Maryland, My Maryland."

THE result on Tuesday (November 2d) in the election of Senators in this State was as follows: Philadelphia, George Handy Smith; Lancaster, John B. Warfel; Lebanon, Jacob G. Heilman; Blair and Cambria, John A. Lemon; Beaver and Washington, Geo. V. Lawrence; Mercer and Lawrence, Fred. H. Braggins; Erie, Henry Butterfield—Republicans; and the following Democrats: Pike, Monroe and Carbon, Charlton Burnett; Lycoming, Montour, Columbia and Sullivan, Robert P. Allen; Clinton, Clearfield and Centre, Thomas J. Boyer; Cameron, Elk, Clarion and Forest, D. P. Thomas; and Fayette and Greene, James W. Hayes.

OVER 3,000 people were present at the first Titiens concert in Boston, and the receipts were about $5,000. Many were turned away from the doors. After the performance an elegant service of plate was presented to Mlle. Titiens.

MRS. E. D. E. N. SOUTHWORTH, Ned Buntline, Sylvanus Cobb and Leon Lewis are all ill together. A vast chasm in the literature of the period must be the result, and the sentimental young women and school boys of the country are in despair.

J. HENRI BURCH, the colored Senator from Louisiana, is soon to lead to the hymeneal altar the widow of the late Lieutenant-Governor of the State, who is now filling the position of an inspector of ladies' baggage in the Custom House at New Orleans.

SOME person in Cincinnati has discovered that the much discussed expression, "Stair of Stars," in Joaquin Miller's last poem, is a plagiarism from Gerald Massey, and quotes this line from the latter's "Glimpse of Auld Lang Syne" to prove it: "As though adown heaven's stairs of stars the seraph harpings stole."

THE Princess Felix Salm-Salm—the American lady whose husband fought for the Union in America, for the Empire in Mexico, and was killed in the Franco-German war—now has on the eve of publication in London, a work which bitterly denounces Bazaine, who commanded the French army of invasion in Mexico in 1864-5, and declares that he was the occasion of all the misfortunes which befell Maximilian.

IT was twenty-one years ago on the 10th inst. when the Hon. James G. Blaine became one of the editors and proprietors of the Kennebec Journal, at Augusta, Me. In announcing his advent, the retiring editor said: "Mr. Blaine comes among us comparatively a stranger. It is but just to say that he is a gentleman of decided talent, of liberal education, extensive travel, and acquainted with the public men and measures of the country."

MISS SIBYL WHITE, who recently died at Marshfield, Mass., was the last member of the White family which occupied the homestead of Peregrine White, the first Englishman born in New England, though she was obliged, about ten years ago, as she was left alone and advancing in years, to sell the place, which had been in the possession of her family from the time of their ancestor. Some three years afterward the well known apple tree, planted by Peregrine, was prostrated and destroyed by a storm.

MR. SPURGEON took strong ground in a recent speech against the exclusion of the Bible from public schools. He said: "Why should that which ought to be an essential part of education not be believed in on account of half a dozen infidels? Why should the reading of the Bible be given up to please them, making infidelity the national religion of England? and badly as I think of the present national religion, I certainly prefer it to having Mr. Bradlaugh Archbishop of Canterbury, and his doctrines taught as the religion of the age. One thing is certain, the churches must feel that the religious education of the people rests entirely upon them, and they must be doing their work.

BISHOP BEDELL, of Ohio, received a public welcome at Toledo, recently, on his return from his foreign trip. In his remarks he said that during his travels among the Oriental Churches, he had learned many things which tended to remove his old prejudices against them. One of the very remarkable things he discovered was that among many of the Eastern churches were traces of the Episcopal worship; a liturgy, and bishops who traced their descent away back into the days of the Apostles. But now the spirit has died out of the Church, the true life of Christ passed away, and the worshippers fallen into a very depressed spiritual condition, and much degenerated in their worship. What struck him most forcibly was that while other churches are doing very much, and accomplishing great good in the introduction of a new religious spirit, the Episcopal Church is doing nothing.

RETURNS from ninety-five counties in Missouri show a majority of nearly 70,000 for the new Constitution.

THE steamer Waco, burned in Galveston harbor, had on board 300 cases of petroleum. The vessel had no right to carry this oil, being without a necessary certificate, and her owners will be prosecuted.

BONDY & SCHWARTZKOF, of Water street, New York, tobacco dealers, have failed, and will probably pay twenty-five cents on the dollar. They say the tobacco trade has been depressed and they have sustained bad losses.

THE women in Ohio are taking steps to graduate as surgeons since the recent admirable operation by one of their number in cutting off the leg of her drunken husband with a common saw. Cleveland was the theatre of this philanthropic deed.

AT St. Mary, Mo., a young colored girl while being married to a man named Brooks, on Wednesday night, was shot through the head by a discarded lover, whose name is not reported. The girl died shortly after being shot, and the murderer escaped.

IT is an ill wind that blows nobody any good. The gale that destroyed part of Galveston deepened the harbor several feet, so that ocean steamships can now lie along side the wharves and unload, instead of using lighters, as they have hitherto had to do.

THE use of paper in the theatres is the subject of an article in the Chicago Tribune. It is said to be useful for crowns, collars, spears, beetling precipices, banners, &c., but particularly valuable for filling a house. This may be so in Chicago, but some Pittsburgh managers are ignorant of the latter method of utilizing the material.

A FARMER in Seymour, Ind., while examining his corn crib the other day, came across a small jug, whose mouth was stopped by the body of a rat which had tried to get in but had stuck fast. On breaking the jug, he found four other rats inside, all alive. The latter had evidently crawled in, eaten till their sides were stuffed out, and then found it impossible to crawl out again.

WHEN Joseph was Prime Minister of Egypt, and made his celebrated corner in grain, they seemed to have had some accurate knowledge of finances there. It is probable that every year since things have been going down—bonds, taxes, revenue, and everything else—the ambitious financier who undertakes the financial reconstruction of that country now has a work of magnitude before him; but still we feel sure we have the men here who would be perfectly willing to oblige the Khedive and take the Secretaryship of the Treasury of the land of the Pharaohs. What a magnificent field to try on a brand new theory of national finance!—Phila. Press.

CHARLEY COLLINS, a well known newspaper man in Iowa, has recently made public the thoughts which crowded upon him when the Indians surrounded him and the Black Hills Commission at the Crow Butte Council. He was sitting just behind Senator Allison. It occurred to him that the Indians, if they shot anybody, would probably kill Senator Allison at the first volley. Then he would have drawn the corpse of the Senator over upon himself, and taken his chances with a dead Senator as fortifications. That which had so often proved a bulwark of American liberty might have proved at last a bulwark of American life, which is dearer even than liberty. This will be pleasant reading for Senator Alllson.

A BOY named Charles Olephant, about thirteen years of age, was almost instantly killed Thursday last, at New Castle. He was riding on an empty limestone car, drawn by a mule, when he fell off, the wheels passing over the lower part of his chest, causing injuries from which he died soon after being carried home.

It is reported that the deceased had also taken poison.

ON last Saturday evening a week ago, a large frame dwelling house situated on the hill in Rochester, was discovered to be on fire, and before any assistance whatever had arrived at the scene of the disaster, the entire building was consumed. The house was unoccupied at the time, a family having moved out just a few hours previous to the fire. The property was owned by Mr. Jacob Weaver, and the loss is estimated at about $3,000, on which there is an insurance of $1,000.

JOHN GAMBLE, ESQ., died at his residence on Gamble's Hill, on Sunday evening, in the 94th year of his age. He was a man of remarkable vigor throughout his long and useful life. HANGING DEAD IN AN OUT-HOUSE.

The Frightful Sight a Mother Saw in Reading.

[From the Reading Eagle, November 10.]

A sad case of suicide came to light in this city yesterday afternoon, when Edward P. Potteiger, aged sixteen, was found hanging by a rope in an out-house in the rear of his mother's residence. The suicide of one so young naturally leads to extended inquiry into the cause. Potteiger, at the time of his death, was learning the trade of a cigar maker at the corner of Seventh and Bingaman streets. Previous to this he had been employed at Messrs. Seyfert, McManus & Co.'s, but there the dust so settled in his throat and lungs that his speech was affected, and he was advised to quit, which he did. Then he went to Harbster's and, after working some time, was similarly affected and was obliged to stop work. He then went at cigar making, as above stated, at Becker's cigar manufactory. On Monday evening he complained of serious headache and yesterday morning his pains were worse across the forehead and through the back part of the head. His employer advised him to go home, which he did, and went to bed. His mother was engaged at work away from home yesterday, at ex-Sheriff Albright's residence, and when she came home at noon her son was still in bed, complaining of his headache. After dinner she went to market, and when she came back about 2:30 o'clock she found his dead body in the out-house, hanging by a rope used as a swing attached inside of the privy door. She saw him through the crack of the door first. The door was fastened inside, when she called to him, but received no answer. She pried open the door, and there found him, and with the assistance of a neighbor woman cut him down. A medical man gave it as his opinion that the intense headache of the boy might have caused temporary aberration of the mind. Coroner Goodhart held an inquest, and a verdict of "suicide by voluntary hanging with a rope" was rendered. The deceased had a good reputation, and was much thought of by the mother, who is a widow.

Mr. Bright on Funeral Reform.

The following letter, written by Mr. John Bright, M. P., and addressed to Mr. G. H. Phillips, of Birmingham, will be read with interest by all who are concerned in the work of funeral reform:

ROCKDALE, October 26, 1875.

Dear Sir—If your friends or any sensible people wish to reform the funeral exhibitions and funeral expenses let them observe and copy the practice of the section to which I belong—that of the Society of Friends. Nothing can be more simple, and nothing can be better. They would be wise also that follow them in rejecting the fashion of wearing mourning, which is always costly, and as worn by many women, hideous. I am sorry to say, however, that the wearing of mourning has of late been rather increasing with the Friends, amongst whom are many who apparently cannot comprehend and do not value the principles on which the practice of their forefathers was based. I thank you for sending me your pamphlet, and am, very respectfully,

Mr. Geo. Phillips. JOHN BRIGHT.

ACCOMMODATING HUSBAND.

He Gives up His Wife to a Friend and Marries His Adopted Daughter.

(From the Marshalltown (Mo.) Republican.)

An ambitious little railroad town in this county was shaken from stem to stern by a society "happening" which recently occurred in her midst. This event involved so wide a departure from the beaten track of human custom, and divine mandates as well, that the moral sense of the community was greatly shocked, and even the gossips lifted up their hands to disclaim it. There resides in this town Dr. ——, who, until recently, did business as a druggist. His family consisted of a wife and an adopted daughter. The wife was an amiable lady in the prime of young womanhood, and the daughter an intelligent and engaging young woman, who acted as clerk in her foster-father's drug store. Boarding with the family was a literary gentleman of cultivated mind and taste, who occupied a room in the drug store, where he devoted much of his time to driving the quill. The family circle, composed of these four, moved along harmoniously until Cupid looked in upon them, and discovering latent love in each human breast, he thence began making matches—not of the regulation kind requiring four strokes to illumine the darkness—but that of binding genial hearts and hands. The literary man secretly cherished admiration for the doctor's wife, and the doctor more than a father's affection for his adopted daughter. Then followed a mutual discovery of the facts, a mutual recognition of the secret passions, a mutual agreement to allow the course of love to "run smooth," a mutual separation of the doctor and his wife—culminating at last in the uniting of hands with hearts to suit their wishes. The doctor gave his wife to the literary man and accepted the hand of his own adopted daughter. They now form two families, the literary man having gone with his new made wife to join the Grangers on a farm not far distant. It is said the doctor obtained a divorce from the first wife; that the latter marriages were legalized in a quiet way, but this, if true, did not prevent the gossips from using the keen dissecting knife, and the affair awakened a greater sensation in the town than anything that has transpired since the Beecher-Tilton revelation.

The Chivalrous Passenjare.

At the close of day, when the pessenjare,
All weary and worn clear up to his hair,
Has dropped in the box his little fare,
And taken a seat in the soothsome cair,
What sound breaks on his tired e-air?
'Tis the rustle of silk, and he mutters "I swear,"
Then with jerk and squeak is stopped the cair,
And sarcastic the mules seem to smile as a pair
Of broad, swelling women get in right there,
And on him cast their baleful glare,
That brings him up standing to take their fare
And carry it straight to the stern drivair,
To wait for the change and to "put it there,"
While the fleshy two are taking the chair
Of the man that's weary clear up to his hair,
The outward chivalrous passenjare,
Who does the same thing every day in the year,
Without so much as a "thank you sair."
As he rides to his home on the street cairs.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, November 13, 1875.

Continued pleasant weather still affects business favorably, and imparts a more cheerful spirit to all classes of business men. Thus there is nothing unfavorable to continued improvement in business, except the consciousness that Winter is steadily drawing on. In all other particulars, we are doing as well as are the business people of other cities.

Rates of interest have not only declined throughout the United States since the panic, but there has also been a large increase of local capital in Chicago in the past two years. As an instance of this it may be mentioned that several large mercantile firms are now constant lenders of money, while three years ago there were none that were able to do so. Notwithstanding several recent spasmodic upward turns in the price of money in New York, it seems probable that that money market will also continue easier than usual this winter.

Among the business public there is undoubtedly a good deal of looking forward to the agitation of the currency question after the meeting of Congress next month. Business has been so unsatisfactory throughout the Eastern States this Fall that thousands of business men who have no intelligent conception of what is really the matter, will be ready to accept almost any change as a happy one. One political party will tell them that the trouble is in not returning to specie payments, and another will tell them that the trouble lies in not having currency enough. The Republican and Democratic leaders in Congress will also urge an issue each, because they want to cause a split in the opposing party. There is already a breach in the Democratic party, and if the issue of specie payments in 1879 is persistently urged there may be one in the Republican party. Thus there is every reason for thinking that the currency question will be hotly discussed this winter, both in Congress and by the business public. There is, however, this one all important point to be kept in mind, viz.: that however correct specie resumption may be in theory it is impracticable now and probably will be in 1879. No one who has any regard for truth can make an estimate of more than $90,000,000 as the entire stock of gold coin and gold bullion in the United States and Territories. It would require at the very least a stock of $300,000,000 of gold coin before the Government could venture to announce the resumption of specie payments. The acquirement of over $200,000,000 of gold coin by the United States Treasury in the next three years is simply impossible. We can not save it out of the products of our mines, because we must pay that for interest on our foreign debts, and no loan Congress will authorize would be able to draw that amount of gold from Europe. Specie resumption with our present means is impracticable without such a large contraction of the currency and consequent depression of business that the people will refuse to submit to it.

NEW YORK, November 12, 1875.

Money was easy at 3a4 per cent.; prime mercantile paper 6a7. The customs receipts were $324,000. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $403,000. The clearings were $40,000,000. Sterling was strong at 482½a487½. Gold opened at 114½, advanced to 114⅝, and declined to 114⅜, at which it closed. The rates for carrying were 1, 2, 3 and 2½ per cent. Loans were also made flat. Governments were firm. Railroad bonds were firm in late afternoon dealings, except for Hannibal & St. Joe convertible, which declined to 79½. Chicago & Northwestern consolidated coupon gold bonds brought 88. Lake Shore consolidated registered firsts advanced to 102, coupon firsts selling at 102½. C. C. C. & I. firsts sold at 106. Ohio & Mississippi seconds sold at 69, against 68 yesterday. State securities were dull.

The stock market opened at an advance of ¼ to 1 per cent. on the general list, and in some cases there was subsequently a still further improvement. Union Pacific was the leading feature, advancing from 72¼ to 73¾, declining to 71½, and recovering to 72¾, against 71⅞ at the close yesterday. Pacific Mail was not in importance, advancing from 39¾ to 40. At the second call the market was firm. In the afternoon there was a buoyant tone to speculation on the Stock Exchange, and prices advanced from ½ to 2¼ per cent. from the lowest point of the day. There was some heavy buying in the leading shares, and the advance was most marked in Union Pacific and Pacific Mail. The general market closed up strong at about the highest prices of the day. Union Pacific rose from 71½ to 73⅞, and closed at the latter price bid. Pacific Mail was unusually active, and rose from 39¾ to 41, closing at the highest point. Hannibal & Joe advanced from 21¾ to 22⅞, preferred from 25½ to 26, Michigan Central from 66 to 66½, Northwest from 38¾ to 38⅞, St. Paul from 35½ to 35⅞, Ohios from 17½ to 18, Lake Shore from 61¼ to 61⅞, and Missouri Pacific from 13 to 13⅞. Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, November 12, 1875.

General business continues to move rather slowly and unsatisfactory, our merchants generally are complaining, but the belief is gaining ground that hard-pan has been almost if not altogether reached, and that a reaction will soon be manifested. The process of liquidation is still in progress, as the numerous suspensions and assignments we have been publishing in our local columns from day to day bear witness; but as these are, as a rule, the debris of the wreck of 1873, the disposition is to accept them rather as a matter of course than as fresh surprises. "Weeding out,' has often a disturbing effect upon the healthy plants around where the weeds grow; but it is better, nevertheless, that the weeds should be disposed of. It is a sign of health.

APPLES—In heavy supply and dull, but unchanged; sales, in a retail way, at $3a4 per barrel for fair to choice.

APPLE BUTTER—70a75c per gallon.

BEANS—Dull; quotable at $1,60a1,65 per bushel to the trade.

BUTTER—The market continues weak, excepting for table Butter, which is in light stock; prime to choice rolls, 27a28c; creamery, 30c.

CIDER—Is quoted at 18a20c per gallon, no charge for packages.

CRANBERRIES—$10a11 per bbl.

CHEESE—The general tone of the market is easier, but prices are still maintained; prime Ohio Factory, 13¼a14c for August and 14a14½c for September make; New York Goshen, 15c.

EGGS—Fresh in light stock and steady at 27a28c; pickeled in good supply and dull; 23a25c.

FLOUR—There is a fair local trade, but no quotable change in prices; old red winter wheat, $7a7,25; amber, $7,50; new red winter wheat, $6,25a6,75; old spring wheat, $7a7,25; new ditto, $6,50a7. Rye Flour, 5,50. Buckwheat per pound, 2½a3c.

GROCERIES—The grocery trade continues dull, orders are not coming in very freely, and, furthermore, they are mostly small, indicating that retailers are still adhering closely to the hand-to-mouth policy. In regard to Coffee, which continues very dull, we gleam the following, on the statistical position of the market, from an eastern exchange: The stock in first hands at the various ports of the United States to-day is as follows: Baltimore, 55,295 bags; New York, 82,072 do; New Orleans, 13,369 do; Mobile, 4,000 do; Galveston, 7,000 do; Savannah, 1,000 do; and Hampton Roads, 3,500 do. Total stock 166,836 bags, against 34,470 bags same date last year. Total stock November 10, 1875, in the United States in first hands, 166,836 bags; afloat and loading for United States to 1st ultimo, 213,077 bags; purchases for United States from October 2 to November 6, 140,000. Total visible supply, 519,913 bags.

IRON TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, Nov. 12, 1875.

Pittsburgh.

PIG IRON.—Trade since the date of our last report has been as dull as ever, if not more so; a number of commission men reported that they had not sold a pound, but it may not be out of place to note in this connection that they are not making the same effort to sell, on time, that they have been, and buyers, about whom there is the least ground for suspicion, have to plank down the cash. Owners, notwithstanding the very dull and depressed condition of the market, prefer to keep their pig iron to exchanging it for paper, unless it is gilt-edge, knowing that sooner or later the former will be wanted at some price, while the latter may not be worth anything, hence there is more caution being exercised in this respect than heretofore, owing mainly to the recent failures. Only those known to be abundantly able to take care of their paper can now buy on time, and, unfortunately, this class of buyers don't want much, they are carrying just as little stock as they can possibly help. Prices continue weak, although there has been no quotable change during the past week; standard forge irons may be fairly quoted at $22, cash, and $23, 4 mos., although some holders are refusing to sell at quoted rates. Following sales were reported:

CONNELLSVILLE COKE.

40 tons No. 2 Foundry	$24 00	cash.
10 tons No. 2 Foundry	24 00	4 mos
10 tons No. 1 Foundry	25 00	4 mos
32 tons Gray Forge	22 50	cash.
20 tons Grey Forge	22 00	cash.
200 tons Gray Forge	22 50	cash.

ANTHRACITE.

10 tons No. 1 Foundry	$27 00	4 mos
100 tons Gray Forge	23 00	5 mos
10 tons Gray Forge	21 00	cash.

BITUMINOUS COAL SMELTED FROM L. S. ORE.

100 tons Gray Forge	$23 00	4 mos
370 tons Grey Forge	23 00	4 mos
30 tons Close Gray	22 75	4 mos

MANUFACTURED IRON.—Business in all kinds of finished irons continues dull and very unsatisfactory, with but little prospect at the present writing of an early improvement. Orders are coming forward very sparingly, and with a continued active competition, prices are cut so close, so it is said, that there is no margin for profit; for some sizes, including bars, it is claimed that current rates do not more than cover actual cost of manufacture. The suspension of several mills, both here and elsewhere, will lessen the production considerably, and this appears to be about the only bright spot apparent at the present time. Merchant bars may be quoted at 2·20a2·25, 60 days, with rumors of sales considerably under the rates in question.

NAILS.—The demand continues to fall off, as it usually does at this particular time, and while some manufacturers report that they are still working up to their full capacity, they are exceptions to the general rule. Prices may be quoted at $2,85a2,90, 60 days, for lots of 100 kegs and upward, and two per cent. off for cash.

SCRAP IRON.—No demand—there is scarcely enough doing to establish quotations. Dealers report that they are unable to sell, hence some of them have stopped buying. No. 1 R. R. Scrap quotable at $1,30a1,35, 4 mos., delivered at mills.

BRITISH IRON MARKET.

A cable dispatch, under date of the 10th, reports as follows:—The market has been depressed since last report, but has now recovered a little, although prices are not very strong:

Gartsherrie No. 1	73s 6d
Coltness No. 1	78s
Glengarnock No. 1	70s
Eglinton No. 1	63s

Manufactured Iron.—The market is stronger. Rails.—No change to report.

NEW YORK.

American Pig.—There is nothing new to report in the condition of the Pig Iron market. There does not seem to be any increase of activity, and we believe the trade is entirely confined to sales to meet the current wants of consumers, without any disposition toward speculation. Indeed, we do not find any well-informed person who looks for better prices in the near future, and the majority are confidently predicting a decline. In everything except coal the cost of making Iron has been very largely reduced, in many respects almost as low as ever, and until the demand becomes very much larger than it has been for some time, the price cannot be much higher than the cost to the furnaces most favorably situated. In this market the transactions have been small. We note sales by the Thomas Iron Company of 400 tons No. 1 Foundry at $24, 400 tons No. 2 Foundry at $22, and 100 tons White and Mottled at $20. We quote Foundry No. 1, $24; Foundry No. 2, $22; Gray Forge, $20a22.

Rails.—We hear of considerable negotiation, but no sales of Rails, except 5,000 English on private terms. We quote American $45a50, at mill, but the tendency of the market seems downward, and there is no doubt this price can be shaded. For Steel Rails the Eastern makers are asking $70, while in the West they can be had for $65—Iron Age.

PHILADELPHIA.

The market continues without change in prices or any material alteration in the amount of sales. It seems probable that trade will continue about as now, until the spring opening, when better prices and demand will, doubtless, prevail. The only feature of improvement noticeable is the demand from railway companies for rails for repairs, and cars, in both of which branches the inquiry is steady and improving. The difficulties with the puddlers at various local and near-by mills continue, and the suspension of these works is probably a good feature in the trade, as it prevents any accumulation of stocks. The various articles entered into the production of iron are all now at their minimum of cost, except coal, which, it is unlikely, will be obtained at any material reduction under these circumstances. Consumers cannot expect iron to be lower, and make it higher by withholding orders, until the majority of the works are forced out of production. Relatively speaking, both pig iron and rails are good property at present prices, and no doubt a portion of the purchases of the latter have been made with this view. As the car works resume operations, bars and heavy sections of rolled iron will appreciate slightly, but it is not probable that it will show any material advance before spring. Prices remain about as at our last, being occasionally shaded to effect sales, and are quotably as follows, viz.:

Pig Iron.—No. 1 Foundry, $24 to $24,50; No. 2, $21 to $22; Gray Forge, $21 to 22; White and Mottled, $19 to $20.

Bars.—2.4c to 2.6c per lb.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, November 12, 1875.

The Crude market was considerably firmer, and as compared with yesterday, prices were about five cents per barrel higher; immediate shipment, $1,50a1,52½; United Certificates, $1,25a1,26¼; Conduit $1,27½; Union, $1,26 1-4. Refined, on the other hand, was weak and lower; Philadelphia was quoted at 12⅛c, with sales, the lowest touched yet; sold at 9 1-2 on cars here.

Late foreign advices by mail report as follows: Quantity of Refined in store in Bremen, Antwerp, Hamburg, Rotterdam and Stettin, on October 23d, 630,468 bbls; same time 1874, 762,136; quantity afloat same date, 205,351 bbls; same time 1874, 171,138; loading, 89,500, against 68,000 bbls; taken for consumption, from January 1st to October 23d, 1,636,203 bbls; same time 1874, 1,392,-559. The Advance in Freights—How it is Viewed at Chicago.

The prospect of having to pay 60c per 100 pounds on every bushel of grain shipped to New York the coming winter was discussed at some length on 'Change yesterday. Opinions were various, but the most prevalent seemed to be that it could not be enforced. There would be so little demand for grain on the seaboard that people would refuse to ship, and the inevitable consequence would be a heavy accumulation here and a beggarly account of empty cars on the railroads. A little cutting under here and there for the purpose of obtaining freights would soon break up the rule, and, possibly, bring figures down to a lower point than would have been necessary but for the existence of the combination. It is conceded that recent rates have been too low to pay, but that is no excuse for jumping to the other extreme, and demanding rates which are little better than cut-throat to the western producer. Indignation was especially expressed at the course of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad authorities, who have acted like the witches in Macbeth.

"Keep the word of promise to our ear,
And break it to our hope."

And like them have incurred the risk of being "no more believed," even though they should promise better at some time in the future. The movement of produce will undoubtedly be continued nearly as heretofore, though rates should be higher, because winter is the time for that transfer, but it is open to grave doubt if enough will be realized on that to pay for keeping grain cars idle, to say nothing of the paralysis which the resolve threatens to the business of the West. The former is the only consideration that can be expected to move these corporations. It remains to be seen how effectual the argument will be.—Chicago Tribune.

Chicago Seed Market.

There was very little doing in this market—little inquiry for any description. The supply of timothy was fair, but mainly of the poorer qualities. Sales were made at $2,15a2,20 for fair to good; prime quotable at $2,25. Flax was a trifle firmer, though the business transacted was very light; sold at $1,35 for prime; fair to good quotable at $1,20a1,31. There were several lots of Hungarian and millet on the market, but holders of these were unable to receive satisfactory bids, and no sales in consequence were reported. Quotable at 45a55c, according to quality.

THE stage of water last evening was 5 feet full, and about stationary. Weather fair and pleasant, all that could be desired for out-door business.

No arrivals, and the Granite State, for Portsmouth, was the only departure. The Exchange from Cincinnati, and the E. H. Durfee from St. Louis, are among the first boats due.

THE Fontenelle has gone up the Red river from New Orleans.

CAPT. JOHN J. DARRAGH was in Cincinnati on Wednesday.

CAPTAINS James Fawcett and John A. Wood were in Louisville on Wednesday.

THE Salt Valley; from Ironton, will arrive on Sunday, and take her departure on Monday.

THE Monongahela was rising slowly at Brownsville yesterday, while the Allegheny was at a stand.

The Ironsides and barges are announced to take their departure for St. Louis to-day, and shippers should bear this in mind.

CAPT. D. W. MARATTA, who was agent for the Coulson line of steamers at Bismarck during the past season, was in town yesterday.

M. FLOYD WHITLOW, late clerk of the Fawn, goes to New Orleans to clerk on the levee. The Fawn is laid up at Jeffersonville.

THE United States snag-boat S. H. Long, Captain H. E. Birch, is removing snags in the Mississippi, between Cairo and St. Louis. Charley Horton is clerk on the S. H. Long.

A ST. LOUIS special, under date of the 10th, says: Business continues fair. The Lake Superior, from Keokuk, brought 700 tons on herself and barges, and lies up for the season. The Carrie V. Kountz left for New Orleans with all she wanted. The Andy Johnson and barge "Keokuk" follow at 10 A. M. to-morrow. River on a stand, with 5½ feet out to Cairo. The Glencoe began loading to-day, and leaves for New Orleans on Saturday. Rates are 60c for flour and 30c per 100 lbs. Col. H. K. Peck, of the Upper Missouri Transportation Company, is in the city. The Nellie Peck is due from Sioux City, with a cargo of wheat, this evening. Captain Bill Hambleton is still in town.

THE Cincinnati and St. Louis Pilots Association have accepted to membership a large number of the former members of the defunct Cincinnati, Memphis and New Orleans Pilots' Association, and for the benefit of such the Cincinnati and St. Louis Pilots' Association have had boxes placed at points on the Mississippi river below Cairo, to receive information and keep such members posted of the changes in the channel. For the benefit of the St. Louis pilots the society has had a new box put up on Rankin's wharfboat at Evansville, and from time to time other boxes will be put up at different points hence to St. Louis and New Orleans, when it may be thought advisable.

The thirteenth of the series of Sunday evening temperance jubilee meetings will be held in the First Cumberland Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue, between Wood and Smithfield streets, to-morrow evening, beginning at 7½ o'clock. The exercises will be conducted by Messrs. Morris and Lincoln. Mr. Lincoln will preside at the organ, and assisted by Mrs. Lincoln, will sing one of the ever popular "Gallilee" songs, also "Jesus of Nazareth," "Where are the Nine?" "Will any one be Waiting and Watching for Me?" and other selections. The Topic Talks, interspersed with song, will be "Work and Reward." "Home Influences." The "Two Signals." This meeting is a continuation of the series of meetings which have heretofore been held in the Alliance rooms on Sixth street, and which have been so successful.

Forgery.

An information was made before Alderman Kreuter yesterday by D. B. Maxwell, Esq., charging William Zimmer with forgery. Some time since Zimmer requested Mr. Maxwell to endorse a note for him, wishing to get it discounted in one of the city banks. Mr. Maxwell agreed to put on his name as second endorser, if Mr. Conway would become first endorser. Zimmer took the note away, returning shortly after, and representing that he had procured Mr. Conway's signature. Thereupon the note was endorsed by Mr. Maxwell, also. When the note fell due, Zimmer was unable to pay it, and when Conway was called upon by the notary, he expressed his surprise to find his name on the paper and pronounced it a forgery. Mr. Maxwell had to pay the note which amounted to $125, and has since prosecuted Zimmer, as above stated. Zimmer was arrested and committed for a hearing. He contends that Mr. Conway's signature was genuine.

An Engine Gone.

In the United States Circuit Court at Des Moines, Iowa, a case was decided recently of considerable interest. In 1873 the Pittsburgh Locomotive and Car Works leased a locomotive to the Mississippi Valley & Western Railroad for nine months, with the privilege of purchase. One fourth of the value was paid at the time, and the balance was to be paid at or before the expiration of the lease; if not paid the engine was to be returned to the manufacturers. The engine was delivered to the railroad company, who subsequently borrowed $1,250 from a national bank in Keokuk, and pledged the engine as security, the bank having no notice of the manufacturers' prior claim. The latter sued the bank to obtain possession. There was a statute in force in Iowa at the time which prevented a prior claim, unless the same was recorded, and the Court decided that while the lease made in this State did not show a sale of the engine, still the Iowa statute controlled the case, and the rights of the manufacturers were subordinate to the lien of the bank. It was also decided that National Banks can take personal chattels as security for a loan.

Wedding Reminiscences.

Last evening a small company of friends assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. O'Neill, No. 175 North avenue, Allegheny, to felicitate the estimable pair upon the occurrence of the tenth anniversary of their wedding day. The visitors brought with them some little tin memorials of the occasion which had drawn them together, but the gathering was devoid of formality and was thereby made all the more enjoyable to visitors as well as their courteous and happy entertainers. The gastronomic feature of the evening was disposed of about eight o'clock, and then came general conversation and social interchanges, which made the remaining hours pass delightfully and profitably by, leaving with every participant nothing but the most pleasant memories.

The worthy couple whose "tin wedding" was thus so quietly and so felicitously celebrated, are deserving of the very kindliest favors of the Fates; certainly if the good wishes of their friends be realized, their future will continue to be full of brightness and prosperity, and the lines will ever fall to them in pleasant places.

"Touch them gently, Time.
May they glide adown thy stream
Gently as we sometimes glide
Through a pleasant dream."

In Memoriam.

The following action was taken by the Board of Trustees of the First Reformed Presbyterian Church, this city, in relation to the death of Newton Webb, Esq., late of Allegheny City.

WHEREAS, An All Wise God in his mysterious providence, has summoned from the scenes of earth our esteemed friend, Newton Webb, a member of this Board of Trustees, we desire to record our testimony to the worth of one who was so long and pleasantly associated with us in an official relation, therefore.

Resolved 1st. That we have heard with profound sorrow the announcement of his death, but while we sorrow that he shall no more meet with us on earth, we can rejoice in the strong confidence that he has joined the General Assembly on high.

Resolved, 2d, That in his death the Board of Trustees has lost a most efficient member, a wise and judicious counsellor; the Church of God, a faithful and consistent Christian; and the community, an upright and conscientious citizen.

Resolved, 3d, That his blameless life, his uniform kindness and courtesy, his humility and modesty, his devotion to duty, and his earnest desire to serve the Great Master, are eminently worthy of our imitation.

Resolved, 4th, That by this mournful providence God has again loudly proclaimed our mortality—"It is appointed unto all men to die"—and the importance of the Savior's warning—"Be ye also ready, for the Son of Man cometh when ye think not."

Resolved 5th, That we tender to the bereaved family our sincere and heartfelt sympathy, and commend them to the God of the widow and fatherless who has given unto them "exceedingly great and precious promises."

Resolved 6th, That these resolutions be entered upon our minutes, and published in the GAZETTE, United Presbyterian, and Reformed Presbyterian Advocate, and that a copy of the same be presented to the family of the deceased.

PITTSBURGH FEMALE COLLEGE.

Musical Contest—Opening of the New Term.

The fall term of the Pittsburgh Female College will close on Tuesday evening with a grand soiree musicale, which promises to be one of the finest entertainments ever given at the college. The term just closing has been an exceedingly prosperous one. There have been more pupils in attendance than at any time during the past two years, and the prospects for the future are full of promise. The new term will open on Wednesday morning, and the indications point to an unusually full attendance. Already a great many applications have come in, and nearly all the rooms in the boarding department have been taken up. We are glad to note that the people thus so heartily appreciate the sterling merits of the College, which has no superior among Female Colleges in the country.

THE EXPOSITION.

The Great Exhibition Yesterday—A Large Attendance—The Special Features for To-day.

The fine weather and the fact that the Exposition is soon to close, brought out the people in goodly numbers yesterday. The sunshine seemed to brighten up the big show, and the building never made a finer appearance.

THE WEDDING.

The feature of to-day is the wedding, which is to take place according to programme. The officiating minister has not yet been named, but he will be forthcoming in time. The following is the programme of music for the evening;

Overture—Croix de Jerusalem.......Belger
Waltz—Vienna Bloods..............Strauss
Potpourri from the Opera Frieschutz....... Hemicke
Old Folks at Home............S. C. Foster
Overture—Tancred..................Rossini
Pittsburgh Exposition Wedding March.... Trapp
Cavatina from Oltilla...............Verdi
National Melody Potpourri........Heinicke
Serenade—Farewell to All...........Kucken

Messrs. McClarran & McKennan, the well-known druggists of Pittsburgh, whose display is one of the finest in the building, will make the bride a present of a magnificent Crown Toilet Set, complete, including fine toilet articles and appurtenances of all kinds—combs, brushes, perfumery (the exquisite Bride's Crown Bouquet), etc.

THE ORPHANS.

During the forenoon about seventy children from the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Orphan Asylum made the halls ring with their merry laugh and expressions of surprise and satisfaction. They were accompanied by four of the teachers, who took great pains to show them all that was to be seen.

A "BURST."

During the trial of the steam pumps yesterday afternoon an amusing and somewhat exciting incident occurred. One of the pumps was working up to its capacity and an interested crowd had gathered around when suddenly the coupling gave way and with a "zizzy bang" the water was scattered over the crowd promiscuously. There was a wild scatterment, hats flew in every direction, no attention was paid to "store clothes" and for a few minutes the excitement ran as high as though a boiler had bursted. The water, as it shot out of the nozzle, made a hissing noise, like steam, which strengthened the impression of a boiler bursting. Finally, an old fireman, who took in the situation, stepped forward and turned off the steam, and that settled the trouble. Then, when all was over, the laugh came in, and the hats and shreds of garments were carefully collected.

PRESENTATION.

A splendid ebony gold-headed cane was last evening presented to John H. Towell, Esq., the space manager of the Exposition, in Press Headquarters, by some of his friends and a number of exhibitors, as a mark of esteem for his courtesy. The presentation speech was made by W. C. Smythe, Esq., in the felicitous style for which that gentleman is proverbial. This was responded to briefly by the recipient, who returned thanks for the compliment, and stated that the occasion would long be remembered by him as one of the most pleasant events of his life. The cane was furnished by John Stevenson's Sons, and is a very handsome article.

THE PRESS COMMITTEE.

The Exposition Press Committee held a meeting last evening at Press Headquarters, the Chairman presiding. In the absence of Secretary Battelle, Mr. Bergstresser acted as Secretary pro tem. A committee of five, consisting of Messrs. Keating, Ramsey, Armstrong, Smythe and Reed, was appointed to take charge of the pictures, and all borrowed property in Press Headquarters, until delivered to the owners. The Committee then adjourned, to meet Thursday evening next at eight P. M., at No. 121 Fourth avenue, to wind up business. A full attendance is highly desirable on the occasion.

THE CLOSE.

At the close of this evenings exhibition the Exposition will be formally closed with a little speechmaking from prominent gentlemen.

THAT PLOW.

Yesterday the report was made to the Executive Committee awarding the first premium, a gold medal, to the splendid Sol Plow manufactured and exhibited by Messrs. Alex. Speer & Sons. This is the plow which was located on a stand at the foot of the east end staircase, and which attracted so much attention.

HOLDERMAN'S DISPLAY.

We took occasion a few days ago to call attention to the exceedingly fine display of furniture made by Mr. P. H. Holderman of No. 192 Ohio street, Allegheny. The display was made in the south side gallery, and attracted enthusiastic admiration from the ladies who are after all the very best judges in such matters. We are glad to note that the regular judges have awarded a first premium to Holderman. This was an award that was well deserved, and if it had been possible to go higher than a first premium this display was in every way worthy of it. His furniture, upholstery, and other goods in his line, are up to the very highest standard of excellence, and are deserving the high reputation which they enjoy. Parties who wish to secure good furniture will remember the number 192 Ohio street, Allegheny.

S. REED JOHNSTON & CO.

There was perhaps nothing finer in the line of any trade in the Exposition than the display made by the various job printing establishments. There were some exquisite specimens of the "Art Preservative" and of book binding. The display made by Messrs. S. Reed Johnston & Co. was especially noteworthy. It comprised specimens of all styles of printing, from the plainest business card up to the most elaborate circular. They also exhibited specimens of wood cut engravings, business books bound and ruled in different styles, and a full line of blank books, stationery, &c. It was really a display that for variety, as well as finish, would have done credit to any printing establishment.

The display seems to have been duly appreciated by the judges, for they awarded the firm two gold medals. The first medal was awarded for fine printing, and the second on specimens of Blank Book Work. These medals are the highest awards that could be made, and indicate the character of the specimens exhibited by the firm.

The firm of S. Reed Johnston & Co. has gained a high reputation in our community for fine work, and this reputation is fully endorsed by these premiums. They have the very best machinery that can be procured, and then employ none but the best printers. In the line of wood-cuts, upon which they received a gold medal, they have special facilities as they have the only press in the city which is specially adapted to wood-cuts and colored printing. So they have supplied themselves in every department, and hence their success.

"PRIDE OF THE KITCHEN."

The jurors in the class where domestic goods held sway, were not long in deciding when they came to the matter of soaps, for house cleaning purposes. They unhesitatingly, after a full examination of all the other brands, awarded the first premium to the "Pride of the Kitchen" soap exhibited by Messrs. Abdiel McClure & Co., of No. 362 Penn avenue. This soap takes the palm as a cleanser. It removes dirt as fast as the snow disappears before the rising sun. It gives a fine polish to paints, glass, &c., and can be used upon the finest graining. It is really the "Pride of the Kitchen," and if ever a soap deserved a first premium for superiority this did. The Judges decision will be heartily endorsed by all the housewives who have used it.

THE GOLD MEDAL FLORAL PREMIUM.

The magnificent floral display made by Messrs. Bochman & Patterson, of No. 132 Smithfield street, was the theme of general praise at the Exposition yesterday. It will be remembered this floral display was made as the last of the series, and for a special award of a gold medal and fifty dollars. The award was to be made for originality of design and arrangement, and the exhibition was, perhaps, the finest ever made in Pittsburgh. Messrs. Bochmann & Patterson's display we have described, but it will bear repetition. They had their flowers arranged in the form of an enigma. First, there was a canoe, then a paddle, then a large ewer on a mossy pedestal, and lastly, the word "own" made of white flowers. The puzzle, or enigma, as arranged, when interpreted conveyed the timely admonition, "Paddle your own Canoe." Another and separate feature of their display was a slipper upon a pedestal, which bore the inscription Ruth iv: 7. The Judges were General Negley and Mr. Zug, and they awarded the prize to this display. Both of the contending florists had really excelled all their previous efforts, but it was universally conceded that Messrs. Bochmann & Patterson had fairly swept the field. The flowers were exquisitely fragrant and beautiful in color and they were arranged with as much regard to harmony of color as though the work had been done by fairy hands.

This one specimen of floral work is sufficient to demonstrate the fact that so long as we have Messrs. Bochmann & Patterson here we need not send east when an especially fine arrangement of flowers is desired. It alone would be sufficient to stamp them as perfect in their business.

EXPOSITION MEDALS—AN EXPLANATION IN ORDER.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

There is a little matter connected with the award of premiums in Class No. 50 on Books, Stationery, Printing, Binding, &c., that needs explanation. Messrs. E. F. Anderson and R. S. Davis were appointed the judges on this class, and they made the following awards to Stevenson & Foster:

558. Best fine book printing, diploma.
561. Best poster printing in colors, diploma.
562. Best label printing, diploma.
565. Best publisher's book in cloth, diploma.
566. Best job book binding, full morocco, silver medal.
567. Best job book binding, half morocco, diploma.

Now, this silver medal is the only medal offered on the premium list, as will be seen by reference to the catalogue. We understood it was the only kind of medal to be given. To our surprise, however, we find in the premium list, as published in the GAZETTE of Friday morning, November 12th, that a competing firm is accredited with two gold medals. An explanation of this mysterious manner of conducting business we think is in order. We cannot believe that the Executive Committee, or any of the managers of the Exposition, would lend themselves to any such disgraceful proceedings with a view of making money. In the official list as at first made known to the Executive Committee the competing firm is only credited with diplomas, but in the list published they are awarded gold medals. If the Board has lent itself to this transaction, and has been willing to be duped by selfish and unprincipled competitors, an explanation of their manner of conducting business would be in order. We protest against the gross injustice done us in this matter.

STEVENSON & FOSTER.

FLOWERS.

Messrs. J. R. & A. Murdoch, who by the way have added largely to the success of the Exposition by their display, yesterday exhibited among other fine pieces, an immense basket, nearly three feet long, composed principally of Carnations, Tuberoses, Violets and Rosebuds. Their flowers are of the finest varieties, and always fresh and fragrant, and the fourteen first premiums are accounted for by the taste displayed in their arrangement.

THAT AFFAIR OF DAVID'S.

What Constable Hays Knows About It—Charges Against Chief Ross Mooted.

Constable J. J. Hays emphatically denies the truth of the article published in the Leader yesterday, in which David Hall's side of the controversy between himself and Attorney J. G. Golden is given, and in which Hall is made to state that Mr. Golden came to his house on business connected with J. J. Hays. The latter asserts that Mr. Golden was never his attorney in any case, and that it was not upon his business that the gentleman went to Hall's dwelling.

Our reporter was informed last night that it is Mr. Golden's intention, in case the Mayor takes no action with reference to the failure of Chief Ross to protect him (Golden) from the assault of Hall in the Mayor's office on Wednesday evening, to prefer charges against the Chief at the next meeting of the Police Committee. Mr. Ross says, however, that he saw none of the striking. There seems to be no doubt but that Mr. Golden was struck in the Mayor's office, but the vigorous manner in which he was lifted out of Hall's residence can only be likened to David's onslaught upon Goliah, although it wasn't so effective.

David and Goliah, went out to have a fight.
David hit Goliah and knocked him out of sight.

A Famous Medical Institution.

(From the Chicago Times.)

"The name of Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has become as familiar to the people all over the country as 'household words.' His wonderful remedies, his pamphlets and books, and his large medical experience, have brought him into prominence and given him a solid reputation. The Times, in the present issue, presents a whole-page communication from Dr. Pierce, and our readers may gain from it some idea of the vast proportions of his business and the merits of his medicines. He has at Buffalo a mammoth establishment, appropriately named 'The World's Dispensary,' where patients are treated, and the remedies compounded. Here nearly a hundred persons are employed in the several departments, and a corps of able and skilled physicians stand ready to alleviate the sufferings of humanity by the most approved methods. These physicians are in frequent consultation with Dr. Pierce, and their combined experience is brought to bear on the successful treatment of obstinate cases. The Doctor is a man of large medical experience, and his extensive knowledge of materia medica has been acknowledged by presentations of degrees from two of the first Medical Colleges in the land."

If you would patronize Medicines, scientifically prepared by a skilled Physician and Chemist, use Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines. Golden Medical Discovery is nutritious, tonic, alterative, and blood-cleansing, and an unequaled Cough Remedy; Pleasant Purgative Pellets, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, constitute an agreeable and reliable physic; Favorite Prescription, a remedy for debilitated females; Extract of Smart-Weed, a magical Remedy for Pain, Bowel Complaints, and an unequaled Liniment for both human and horse-flesh; while his Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is known the world over as the greatest specific for Catarrh and "Cold in the head" ever given to the public. They are sold by druggists.

THE anniversary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Canton district was held last Sunday at Mt. Union. A number of ladies from Canton and other places, were present and they had a pleasant and profitable time.

THE auditorium of the North Avenue M. E. Church, Allegheny, will be re-opened for divine worship to-morrow—as will be seen by a note elsewhere. The pastor, Rev. E. B. Snyder, will be assisted by the Rev. Dr. J. H. Bayliss, of Indianopolis—a leading western pulpit orator.

REV. RICHARD LEA, of Lawrenceville Presbyterian (Thirty-ninth street) church, will deliver his fortieth anniversary discourse to-morrow. Subject—A Review of Pittsburgh the Last Fifty Years; Its Doctors, Lawyers and Ministers. Interesting Reminiscences of Dr. Black, Dr. Bruce and Smithfield M. E. Church.

AT the recent annual election for Directors of the Catholic Relief Association held at the Episcopal residence, Revs. James Holland, M. Carroll, R. Phelan, D. Kearney and Jerome Kearney were chosen to serve for the ensuing year. Immediately after an organization was effected by the selection of Rev. D. Kearney, as President; Rev. M. Carroll, Vice President; Rev. R. Phelan, Treasurer; Rev. J. Kearney, Secretary, and Rev. James Holland, Assistant Secretary.

THE week commencing to-morrow is to be observed as a week of prayer for young men. In this city to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock a union prayer meeting will be held in Christ M. E. Church, Penn street. In the evening the anniversary meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the First Presbyterian Church. During the week every day at noon there will be a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms from 12 to 12:45 for prayer. On Saturday evening at 7:45, a service of song for young men will be held at the same place.

THE anniversary meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association, of this city, will be held to-morrow evening in the First Presbyterian Church, Wood street, commencing promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Hon. John V. Farwell, of Chicago, and Rev. S. J. Fisher, of Swissvale, will address the meeting. Mr. Farwell is well known as one of Chicago's leading merchants, and also as an active Christian worker in his own city. Arrangements have been made with the railroad officials to have the train leaving Union Depot usually at 9:26 remain for those along the line of P. R. R. who desire to attend the meeting.

The Methodist Recorder in speaking of the proposed union between the Methodist and Methodist Protestant churches says: "A few days ago, in this same city of Pittsburgh, where two rivers meet, the one rapid and somewhat tinctured with the signs of mammon, the other weary with the interruption of dams and locks—to form the beautiful Ohio—here where the great balls of white-heated iron are compacted into unity and symmetry by the power of the forges—here on the verge of the days when the Evangelical Alliance came together to join forces for bringing the world to Christ—it was fitting that the Methodist Protestant and Methodist Union Commission should devise a basis for the speedy unification of the several agencies of liberal Methodism. May the proposed union be as complete as that of the commingling rivers, and as powerful as that of the welded iron from a hundred hills!"

If Your Throat Feels Sore or Uncomfortable

use promptly Dr. Jane's Expectorant. It will relieve the air-passage of all phlegm or mucous, allay inflammation, and so give the affected parts a chance to heal. No safer remedy can be had for all Coughs and Colds, or any complaint of the Throat or Lungs, and if taken in time a short trial will prove its efficacy.

RE-OPENING.

North Avenue M. E. Church—Extensive Improvements—Interesting Services for To-morrow.

For several months past the auditorium of the North Avenue M. E. church, Allegheny, has been undergoing renovation and repairs, and to-morrow it will be re-opened for public worship. The church has been thoroughly over-hauled, re-frescoed, re-carpeted and a change made in the arrangement of the pews. In addition to these changes, a large Pipe organ has been put up,—an organ loft at the rear of the pulpit having been erected for it. The organ was manufactured by the firm of Hook & Hastings, Boston, and is said to be one of the finest instruments ever manufactured at that celebrated establishment. The improvements, aside from the $3,000 organ were made at an expenditure of several thousand dollars, and the auditorium is now a model of elegant taste, and comfortable arrangement. The re-opening services will take place to-morrow. The pastor, Rev. E. B. Snyder, will be assisted by the Rev. J. H. Bayliss, D. D., of Indianapolis, who has a high reputation as a pulpit orator. The "North Avenue" is one of the most progressive of the M. E. churches hereabouts, and it is a pleasure to note this evidence of prosperity.

The Brilliant Station Robbery.

Wm. Moore, a glass blower in Temperanceville, is one of the three men who attempted early yesterday morning to rob the store of Mr. Alexander Hamilton, at Brilliant Station, on the A. V. R. R. George Purdy and James Smith, employes at the oil refinery of Lockhart & Frew, observed the men endeavoring to get into the building. The parties fled as soon as they found out they had been discovered. Purdy fired two shots from a revolver at the thieves, one of the bullets knocking the hat from the head of one of the men. The second shot struck Moore in the leg. The wounded man fell, but soon regained his footing and made every effort to escape. Messrs. Purdy and Smith followed in close pursuit, however, and finally captured the thief. They held him in custody until Mr. Hamilton had been notified, and then assisted in escorting him to the police station in East Liberty. Upon examination by a physician a few hours later it was discovered that the bullet had entered Moore's left leg, below the knee. Deputy Mayor Lowry, in default of $1,000 bail, committed the prisoner to jail for trial. A kit of tools that had been left in the store by the thieves is now in possession of the police.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Last night was Mr. Sullivan's benefit. The distinguished actor played to a packed house, the largest of the week, and his superb rendition of the role of Beverly in Moore's tragedy of "The Gamester" was rewarded with unstinted applause. When he is gone it will be remembered as the crowning performance of his engagement. The characters in the play are few, but the leading ones, Beverly and Stukley, are drawn with a master hand. In the former the intensity and force of Mr. Sullivan's acting were such as to make him the focus at which centered nearly all the interest of the audience. So completely did he succeed in burying his own individuality, and so thoroughly did he interpret all the phases of ungovernable rage, unutterable despair and unfathomable anguish, that it required an effort of the mind to bring one to a realization of the fact that it was not real but only mimic. In the concluding act, a prison scene, where, impelled by remorse of soul and agony of mind, Beverly poisons himself, Mr. Sullivan's acting was such that we have no words to describe it. There was in it so much of desolation, such inexpressible hopelessness, mingled with pathos and deep regret, that it became almost painful to look upon, though powerfully fascinating, and when the dropping of the curtain released the audience from the mental strain under which it labored, it broke out in enthusiastic applause. We regret that "The Gamester" is not on the programme for the matinee this afternoon, because we wish that still others might enjoy the rare pleasure of Mr. Sullivan's Beverly. All the members of the company gave efficient support, Mr. Waverly and Miss Fletcher in particular. At times Mr. Cathcart forgot his stiffness and acted with natural grace and native vigor. Mr. Wilson, who enacted the part of Dawson, is constantly improving, and it is easy to note the fact that he is daily becoming a smoother and more effective actor.

This afternoon "The Merchant of Venice."

Titiens' Concerts.

The concerts to be given at Library Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings of next week by Titiens and her select company, will possess additional interest to Pittsburghers because of the fact that Miss Inez Kennedy is to make her professional debut then. She will sing an air from "Traviata." The sale of seats commences on Monday at Kleber's, on Wood street.

Library Lectures.

The third of the Library course of lectures will be delivered on Tuesday evening next by Rev. J. Hyatt Smith, of Brooklyn. His subject is "From New York to Jerusalem." He is said to be witty, amusing and eloquent.

Academy of Music.

Victoria C. Woodhull announces that she will lecture to-morrow evening at the Academy of Music, on "The True and False, Socially." Whatever may be thought of her social ideas, her ability to present them in a clear, forcible and entertaining manner is pretty generally conceded.

Trimble's Varieties.

The matinee to-day offers a pleasant place at which to spend an afternoon. The programme is a well chosen one and the actors are among the best in their line.

Musical and Dramatic.

MR. OWEN was not in the cast last night. He viewed "The Gamester" from the lobby.

MISS FLETCHER is a charming, lady like actress, of whom nothing but kind thoughts and kind words can be entertained and spoken.

MR. SULLIVAN was serenaded last night, after the performance, by the Cathedral Band, at the Monongahela House. In acknowledgement of the compliment he made a brief but neat speech, stating that it had been a great many years since his last visit to Pittsburgh, but that he had always entertained a warm regard for this smoky place. He said he had many friends here, was glad to come back and greet them and was particularly pleased at the cordial reception he had received, showing that he had not been forgotten.

A MIXED AFFAIR.

The Trouble that a Gold Coin Made.

Last evening an emigrant was in the neighborhood of the Rush House endeavoring to dispose of a gold coin of foreign mintage, for which he said he had paid $15. He further stated, however, that since he had bought it he had been told it was counterfiet, and he wanted to see if it was. A Jew named Schultz, who keeps a store on Penn street, heard of it, and finding the emigrant, obtained the coin, and taking it to the Rush House it was there weighed and pronounced to be genuine gold, though of unknown value. From its size and weight, however, it was supposed to be worth $12 or $15. Schultz thereupon purchased it from the German for $8. Shortly afterwards he sold it to a man named Mullen for $10. Mullen took it to the St. James bar and offered it in payment for some drinks. The bar tender being doubtful about its value, or not having the change, refused to take it. Mullen then took it to Mr. Charles Manning, representing it to be worth $20. Mr. Manning gave him that amount for it, but in the course of half an hour or so afterward discovered that it was not a double-eagle, as he at first supposed, and that it was not worth $20, if it was worth anything. He thereupon had Mullen arrested, Mullen had Schultz taken up, Schultz fell back upon the emigrant of whom he had purchased the coin, and the man who was with him at the time of purchase. All four were, therefore, taken to the lock-up. The Mayor immediately accorded the party a hearing, and discharged all of them, with the proviso that each party to the transaction return the money he had received. This was done, and the emigrants, (who, by the way, could not speak English,) left for the west at one o'clock this morning, badly scared, but comparatively happy at so narrowly escaping a severe taste of American justice.

The Mayor stated that he believed there was a good deal of rascality in the transaction, but perhaps not enough to sustain a criminal prosecution.

THE LANSBURY TRIAL.

Arguments Not Yet Concluded.

In the United States Circuit Court, before Judge McKennan, yesterday, the arguments were commenced in the case of the Government vs. Joseph Lansbury.

The counsel for the defense, Messrs. Weir & Gibson, and Thomas M. Marshall, Esq., submitted ten points, upon which they asked the Court to charge the jury. The first two were in reference to the law authorizing drafts and providing for notice to the person drafted. The third point was as follows: "That if the jury believe that James Lansbury, the defendant, was not personally served with such written or printed notice, or that no copy of such written or printed notice was left at his last place of residence, he was not a deserter, or non-reporting drafted man within the meaning of said act, and was not therefore liable to arrest as such."

The fourth and fifth were that the statement of Lansbury that he would not "go or pay," etc., were not sufficient evidence that he was served with notice. The fifth, that if he was not served with notice, he was not a deserter, and not liable to arrest. The sixth and seventh were that if Lansbury did not know that Butler and Van Vleet were officers, or if he was wounded before he shot Butler, or if he believed himself in great personal danger, and acted in self-defense, he should be acquitted. The ninth and tenth refer to his good character, and the usual instruction to return a verdict of acquittal if a reasonable doubt of guilt exists.

After argument upon the point relative to the necessity for notice from the Government to a man that he is a deserter, the Court decided that an officer could not take a man unless it could be shown that the man had knowledge that he was a deserter. Without notice he was not bound to submit and surely had the right to defend his liberty.

The argument for the Government was opened by Mr. Carnahan, who spoke for a considerable while, not concluding until after 12 o'clock. He was followed by Mr. Gibson and Mr. Marshall for the defense. Upon the conclusion of Mr. Marshall's argument, about half-past two o'clock, Mr. Reed, U. S. District Attorney, asked for an adjournment until to-day to conclude the preparation of the closing argument for the prosecution. This was granted, and the Court adjourned until 10 o'clock to-day.

As has probably been gathered from the reports of the trial, the main point relied upon by the defence is that the defendant had no knowledge that the Deputy Marshal had authority to arrest him, and that the threatening manner in which they approached and pursued him excited such apprehensions in his mind that he was justified in defending himself against his supposed assailants. On the part of the Government it is contended that Lansbury had been duly notified that he was drafted, and that, having failed to report after receiving that notice, he knew the officers would endeavor to arrest him. The fact that he attempted to flee as soon as the officers put in an appearance was sufficent evidence that he knew the object of their visit, and his refusal to halt justified the officers in using all the force necessary to accomplish the arrest.

The case will no doubt be submitted to-day.

A Well Merited Success.

As contrasted with fortunate charlatanism, well-merited success is less frequent than it ought to be. Puffery, blatant assertion and coined recommendations too often, for instance, give an ephemeral popularity to medicinal compounds intrinsically worthless at the expense of really deserving remedies, and to the grievous detriment of the sick. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic alterative which has achieved one of the best merited and most signal successes of the nineteenth century, has never relied upon such methods of manufacturing a reputation, nor has the competition of counterfeit tonics ever affected its reputation in the slightest degree. That it is the best remedy for malaria, and the surest safeguard against it; that it eradicates dyspepsia, billiousness, constipation, disorders of the kidneys and bladder, and the various causes which produce weakness, are implicit and well-founded beliefs with the great body of the American people.
